Welcome to the monthly Bioethics and Humanities Newsletter provided by the Program in Bioethics and Humanities at the University of Iowa Carver College of Medicine.

Program in Bioethics and Humanities: Our Mission
We are committed to helping healthcare professionals explore and understand the increasingly complex ethical questions that have been brought on by advances in medical technology and the health care system. We achieve this through education, research, and service within the Carver College of Medicine, University of Iowa Health Care, University of Iowa, and the wider Iowa community.

More Details About The Program

Program Highlight

Interactive Multimedia Consent for Biobanking

Congratulations to Christian Simon, Ph.D., (Program faculty member), Helen Schartz, J.D., Ph.D., and David Klein, Ph.D. (Law, Health Policy & Disability Center, College of Law) for recently receiving an R01 award for their work on Interactive Multimedia Consent for Biobanking. The three-year grant begins early this summer and will focus on the ethics and cost-effectiveness in designing and using electronic consents for biobanks, in collaboration with three other institutions. Specifically, the researchers are compiling empirical evidence to guide best practices for using interactive multimedia to inform potential volunteers about participation in research involving biospecimens and health information. The researchers expect that electronic consent processes can be applied to other (clinical and translational) research as well. The study is funded by the NIH/National Human Genome Research Institute.

Upcoming Events

For a listing of upcoming events related to bioethics and humanities, please click here.

Quotation of the Month

Identifying and encouraging reflection on the impact of the factors beyond the formal curriculum that can influence students and residents… may contribute to professional identity formation by deepening students’ understanding of who they are and who they wish to be.

- Cruess, Cruess, Boudreau et al., from their article in Academic Medicine (2015)
See One, Do One, Teach One: Hand Hygiene Attitudes Among Medical Students, Interns, and Faculty

Marc Polacco, MD, Laura Shinkunas, BA, Eli Perencevich, MD, MS, Lauris Kaldjian, MD, PhD, Heather Schacht Reisinger PhD

An anonymous, online survey of medical students, interns, and faculty at a university hospital was conducted in 2013 to examine self-reported adherence to hand hygiene opportunities. Variation in self-reported adherence ranged from frequencies of 60%-100%. Such variation suggests the need to direct education toward hand hygiene opportunities with lower reported rates of adherence, especially toward those opportunities that are difficult to monitor.

The University of Iowa History of Medicine Society announces the

2015 R. Palmer Howard Dinner

Medicinal Plants of the Mediterranean: A Unique Tradition

Alain Touwaide
Research Associate, History of Science and Medicine, Smithsonian Institution; Scientific Director, Institute for Preservation of Medical Traditions

Date: Friday, April 24, 2015
Time: 6:00 p.m. – 9:00 p.m.
Location: Carver Room, Sheraton Hotel

Register by April 17th.

UIHC Ethics Consult Service

This service is a resource for patients, family members, or health professionals at UIHC who would like help addressing an ethical question or problem related to a patient’s care. Consults can be ordered by UIHC clinicians through EPIC. Consults can also be requested by calling (319) 356-1616 and asking for the ethics consultant on call. For more information, please click here.

The Examined Life Conference

The University of Iowa Roy J. and Lucille A. Carver College of Medicine will host its ninth annual three-day conference focusing on the links between the arts and the science of medicine.

The program seeks to encourage healthcare professionals, medical educators, patients and their family members to define methods for incorporating writing and humanities into medical education, patient care, and/or professional development schemes; identify the role that humanities activities can play in such activities; identify avenues to pursue that can improve their creative or reflective writing; and describe and utilize the mechanics of writing for publication. Upon completion of this conference the participant will be able to: identify tools to enhance their understanding of patients' needs; discuss the ethical, emotional, and psychological requirements of their professions; describe methods that can be used to increase the well-being and communication skills of medical learners, healthcare providers, and patients; and examine publication practices.

Featured presentations are free and open to the public. To participate fully, it is recommended that you register for the conference.

Dates: April 16-18, 2015
Location: Carver College of Medicine

---

Resource Highlight

VitalTalk

VitalTalk is a nonprofit with the mission of nurturing healthier connections between patients and clinicians. They specialize in developing and facilitating advanced communication skills focused on balancing honesty with empathy when discussing serious illness and end-of-life care.

More Details

---

Bioethics in the Literature

To unsubscribe from the Bioethics and Humanities monthly Newsletter, please click here.

-----------------------------
Laura Shinkunas
Editor, Bioethics and Humanities Newsletter
Program in Bioethics and Humanities
500 Newton Road, 1-110 MEB
(319) 384-4654
laura-shinkunas@uiowa.edu